	He made people see that freedom is a tiling.  He showed that you could bring that peace from a king.  I remember (Bertin Luther king.
	because he was a mon who had a droom, he always believed he could achieve. That his no of his peeple could be free. He helped the right overcome wrong.
	Their loge com turn seek into streng. And all ouising love indeed of hote. Listed make our country great.
	His massage meant to set us free. Uses little uith hope for you and me. Use shouldn't care dook to color of our skin. Use shouldn't care dook to be friends
	Bie should just be friends He was a great leader. And a great pleaser.
	So as bid days bid freedom ring. Rs sui remember Dr. King. By: Devince(ah Rayford

Sing Freedom	Auburn Avenue  The middle of the month—	Martin Luther King Jr A Baptist minister,
From Birmingham Jail, his words did resound, King penned truth in that cell's confine, Meeting injustice with courage profound,	After the new year, A mother birthed her first son, A future civil rights pioneer,	A social rights activist. He was a savoir,
His letter preached of freedoms divine.  Marching on Pettus Bridge, he stood tall,	His father was a minister, And his mother's father too. He learned how some were sinister	A real life protagonist. A real leader, no one was ever sweeter. Lead a Civil Rights Movement,
A beacon for justice, unwavering light, Fighting oppression's hate-filled calls He led the fight for what was right.	Because they hated his dark hue,  It was God who would inspire his work,	He found himself. The Nobel Peace Prize, Made him try harder.
With nonviolence as his constant creed, He championed equality's plea,	And God who pushed him through. He worshiped at the Ebenezer Church. At 407 Auburn Avenue.	As soon as he died, the rest had no "father."  He strived for as long as he could.  His assination made the people do more than just good.
In this struggle, he sowed the seeds, Of a dream that all could be seen equally	Sweet Auburn: full of opportunity. In the wrinkles of Atlanta. It was called the richest black community.	"I'd like somebody to mention that Martin Luther King, Jr., gave his life serving others"
King's legacy, a lighthouse bright and wide, Shining hope and justice as our guide.	It was called the nchest black community.  It was where the seeds could be planted.  The seeds would grown in him	Martin Luther King Jr, One like no other.
	Even more at Morehouse College. He wanted to make changes within others; Extend his knowledge,
	He let his beliefs ring so true— That he changed things forever, His home is a museum nis nome is a museum At 501 Auburn Avenue.
